

Therapeutic Group Home

Our Specialized Behavioral Health Residential Program also known as a Therapeutic Group Home (TGH) provides a facility-based residential service in a home-like setting with 24 hour supervision and programming. Residents are offered a wide range of programs and services to prepare them for reintegration into a family or independent living environment. The New Foundation group home serves adolescent boys and girls between the ages of 11 - 17 who present with mild to moderate psychiatric, emotional and/or behavior management challenges related to a psychiatric diagnoses. Many of the adolescents placed in this program are referred by the state's Department of Children's Services, Juvenile Court Center, AHCCCS, and the Indian Nations.

Our highly skilled, multidisciplinary team is trained in safe and positive approach techniques including trauma informed care. They provide a high degree of support and clinical intervention to motivate each individual towards independence while still providing 24 hour supervision of residents.

The treatment program is based on behavior management and accountability combined with counseling, and has the flexibility to target individual needs and behavior issues.

Individuals in the therapeutic group home setting attend The Marion Burton school which is conveniently located on campus. Discharge planning begins at admission with particular attention paid to the individual's current and projected levels of functioning, his/her support system and his/her concerns. The ultimate goal of treatment is to discharge the child to a less restrictive level of care.
